

In God's America

Words, Music and Arrangement: Nanette Malher

Somewhere a baby laughs on a summer breeze.
A farmer plants his fields of golden wheat.
A surgeon says a prayer --

A stranger saves the life of a dying man.
A sister reaches for her brother's hand.
A neighbor shows he cares --
Somewhere . . .

(Chorus)
In God's America
He gave us liberty.
Shine on, America
So all men will be free.

Somewhere a rich man gives without holding back
A poor man gives much more than he ever has
A child learns to share --

Somewhere a soldier dies on a foreign street
Somewhere a mother cries as she feels him leave
A sad song fills the air --

Somewhere . . .

(Chorus)
In God's America
He died to make men free.
Shine on, America
God shed his grace on thee

Sunday morning the choirs sing
Hallelujah! Let Freedom Ring!

(Chorus)
In God's America
He died to make men free.
Shine on, America.
God shed His Grace
In God's America.
He died for you and me.
Shine on America.
No one can take the Light
from the home of the brave and the free.
